

Mission

The American Red Cross prevents and alleviates human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors.

Ready to Respond

Disaster Training Institute

Saturday thru Sunday, October 5th—13th, 2013

Southern Nevada Chapter • Las Vegas, NV

"Ready to Respond" is a week long offering of courses to support your volunteer career development.

Pick and choose the courses you need to pursue your area of interest or take several classes to get a better understanding of other areas in a relief operation.

If you've got the time, we've got the training!

Ready to Respond • Ready to Learn

Well trained disaster responders are the key to a successful relief operation. Success is not only measured by a positive client experience, but also by a positive worker experience. We want to ensure you have the training necessary to be effective in your role on the relief operation. NOTE: Disaster Services Overview is pre-requisite for any other courses.

Here are a few details to ensure you have a positive training experience.

Course Location:

Southern Nevada Chapter, 1771 E. Flamingo Suite 206B, Las Vegas, NV. Signage in the lobby will direct you to the proper classroom.

Building Access:

For weekday classes, park in the back parking lot and enter the rear public access door.

For evening and weekend classes, secure underground parking is available. Gate code is 8620. Take the elevator to the second floor.

Dress:

Casual or business casual is appropriate. Please no revealing or suggestive clothing. Jeans are fine.

Lunch / Dinner:

There will be a one hour break for lunch / dinner. Your instructor can advise you of local restaurants. A break room with a refrigerator, microwave, and soda machine is available on site.

Attendance / Tardiness

Classes will begin promptly at the scheduled time. Please ensure ample time for traffic and delays. Admittance after the scheduled start time is at the discretion of the instructor. In most cases, no late admittance will be possible as the course design builds upon information shared at the beginning of the course. Attendance the entire time is required for completion.
